

ANOTHER SPIRIT WEEK! 4th Grade News!

May 21, 2020

This week, students continued their study of Westward Expansion. We reviewed the concepts they've been studying the last few weeks and I am so impressed with all the information they retained!

We also continued our Writing unit on Figurative Language and the students had fun with idioms! We are studying idioms from other languages, so ask them what it means in Germany if you say "You have tomatoes on your eyes" or you "bought a cat in a sack"! So fun to study these, and we will continue with that next week.

LET THE GAMES BEGIN!

MATH

We are half way through Ch 10 and the students are doing great!

PLEASE: Quiz your child on their multiplication facts any chance you get!

Work Hard.
Be Kind.

ELA

We finished Jackie and Me, so next week we will spend putting together our final projects for the novel. Thanks for your help and support!

Coming Up:

I am excited to have lunch (virtually) with the following students on Wednesday at 12:30:
Alice
Clare
Alec

There's still room to join if your child wants to! The link is on Google Classroom from April 24th. Zoom invitation to follow ☺

Food for Thought: How is your child's handwriting looking these days? It would be beneficial to take a look at the neatness and quality of their work, since I am unable to give that immediate feedback anymore.
Thanks!
