A Note from Ms. Nelson

Dear 4th Grade Families,

Students worked so hard this week on their Layers of the Earth models - and they've been having fun too! They have come up with such creative ideas, and I am so impressed with how their models came together. They will be coming home soon for you to enjoy!

As you have likely heard, your students received their recorders in Music this week!

Recorders and recorder folders need to come back to school on Tuesdays for Music. In the event that the recorders are needed for another day, I will send out an email in advance. Mrs. McCarthy will be sending home a note about recorders next week with your students. You can reach out to her at smccarthy@stmadsophie.org with any other questions.

In Social Studies next week, we will continue working on one of the first pieces of our Washington State Projects! We are making maps of Washington that include county lines and important cities. We will keep the final products in our classwork binder until the very end of the year when we assemble our binders. They are going to look so great!

Know of my prayers for you and your family always, and enjoy your weekend!

Best,

Ms. Nelson

Upcoming Tests/Projects:

Math: Mid Ch. 2 Quiz, Thursday 10/5

Reading: Spelling Test, Friday 10/6

Social Studies: Washington State Flip Map (Monday-Thursday)

Go Seraphs, Go!

Good Luck to our girls soccer players who have a game on Saturday, and our Cross Country Runners who have a meet on Sunday!

Google Classroom

Students have been doing great working on making the shift from homework all being turned in on one day of the week, to having more nightly assignments. Remember, if they do not write their homework down, or if you would like to check their homework, it will always be posted on our Google Classroom!
