A Note from Ms. Nelson

Dear 4th Grade Families,

What a gift to be able to celebrate Holy Week with your children! They were so thoughtful and respectful throughout the events of the week, and showed their hearts for others in so many ways. It was a blessing to participate in Stations of the Cross with them, and build rosaries with them in the quiet of the afternoon. It was a lovely way to center ourselves before heading out on Spring Break.

We have also had so much fun in the last two weeks hearing from more of our March Madness Readers, and figuring out which books will advance on to the next round! When we come back from Spring Break we will start voting for which book will reign supreme as our champion!

If you have been traveling over spring break, know of my prayers for a safe trip home, and if you have stayed home, I hope you were able to find moments of peace and rest during this holy season!

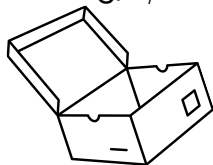

Know of my prayers for you and your family always, and enjoy your weekend!

Best,

Ms. Nelson

Reading Dioramas

If your child is in my Reading class, and does not walk to another teacher, this note is for you! Starting April 15th, we will be building dioramas of our favorite scene from The Tale of Despereaux. Please take a look around your house, and if you have any extra shoe boxes, please send them in with your student to use for their diorama. They will need them by Monday, 4/15.

WA State Project!

The time has come! Students will be receiving the assignment criteria for their end of the year Washington State Project on Friday, 4/12! They have already been hard at work making some of the pieces that will be compiled in it, but there are some pieces that they may need your help with. All of those pieces will be outlined in the assignment overview that they will bring home this weekend and requesting your signature on. Please take a look with your student and do not hesitate to reach out with any questions or concerns!
